MISSOURI DEPARTMENT OF HIGHER EDUCATION AND WORKFORCE DEVELOPMENT

Background

The Coordinating Board for Higher Education was authorized by an amendment to the Missouri Constitution in 1972 and established by statute in the Omnibus State Reorganization Act of 1974.

Board members – one from each of Missouri's eight congressional districts and one selected at large – serve six-year terms and are appointed by the governor with the advice and consent of the senate.

The Missouri Department of Higher Education & Workforce Development, led by the Commissioner of Higher Education, serves as the administrative arm of the Coordinating Board.

On Aug. 28, 2019, the Missouri Department of Higher Education, the Division of Workforce Development, and the Missouri Economic Research and Information Center transformed to become one department. The transformation was a result of Executive Order 19-03, signed Jan. 17, 2019, by Gov. Mike Parson to realign Missouri's workforce development systems through a major restructuring of state government. In addition to the restructuring, the department name changed as a result of Executive Order 19-15, signed Aug. 28, 2019, by Gov. Parson to better reflect the full scope of the new department.

Blueprint for Higher Education

The Coordinating Board for Higher Education is responsible for creating a coordinated plan for higher education in Missouri. Preparing Missourians to Succeed: A Blueprint for Higher Education, focuses on five goals:

Goal 1: Attainment

Missouri will increase the proportion of working-age adults with high-quality, affordable postsecondary credentials to 60 percent by 2025.

Goal 2: Affordability

Missouri will rank among the 10 most affordable states in which to obtain a postsecondary degree or certificate by 2025.

Goal 3: Quality

Missouri will produce graduates with high-quality postsecondary degrees and certificates that are valuable and relevant to individuals, employers, communities, and the state.

Goal 4: Research and Innovation

Missouri will be a top 10 state for investment in academic research by 2025.

Goal 5: Investment, Advocacy and Partnerships

Missouri will promote greater investment in a culture of postsecondary education through increased advocacy and powerful partnerships with education, business, government, and communities.

SELECTIVITY:

Missouri's public colleges and universities follow a set of selectivity standards when considering students for admission. Institutional selectivity is standard admission criteria and includes such measures as a student's grade point average, high school class rank, and score on their ACT or SAT, or a combination of those scores. Some schools have open enrollment, meaning they do not take these standards into consideration when admitting students. Public community colleges must provide open enrollment. For more details about selectivity, visit dhewd.mo.gov/policies/admissions-selectivity.php.

2018-2019 NET PRICE

Net price is the total cost of attendance minus the average amount of awarded federal, state or local government, or institutional grant and scholarship aid.

Total cost of attendance is the sum of published tuition and required fees (lower of in-district or in-state), books and supplies, weighted average room, board, and other expenses.

Net price is reported for first-time, full-time degree-or certificate-seeking undergraduates paying the in-state or in-district tuition rate who were awarded grant or scholarship aid.

State Appropriations Per FTE, Public Community and Technical Colleges FY 2020

Lincoln University and the University of Missouri are land grant institutions, and both dedicate part of their core appropriation to a required federal match to support this mission. Lincoln received about $3.8 million and the University of Missouri provided approximately $30 million of its core funding for this purpose. These funds are included in their appropriations per FTE but were not available for student instruction.

DEPARTMENT OF HIGHER EDUCATION & WORKFORCE DEVELOPMENT

PUBLIC UNIVERSITIES

Missouri has 10 public universities, one of which is a system that includes four campuses. The institutions include five universities that got their start as regional teachers' colleges, two historically black institutions, and two universities that were initially community colleges.

COPHE, the Council on Public Higher Education in Missouri, is comprised of nine of Missouri's public universities, State Technical College of Missouri, and their presidents. (As of July 1, 2020 the University of Missouri System is no longer a member of COPHE.) COPHE is led by executive director Paul Wagner. The group elects a chair, who serves a two-year term. The current chair of COPHE is Dr. Sue Thomas from Truman State University. The current vice chair is Dr. Roger Best from the University of Central Missouri.

Each public university receives an individual line item appropriation for its operating budget. The UM campuses traditionally have a single line item, although funds were appropriated separately for FY 2019. Performance funding has been appropriated in a single line item to institutions collectively and the Office of Administration keeps a spreadsheet with individual allocation amounts. Most of the schools employ contract lobbyists and/or have dedicated government relations staff.

Harris-Stowe State University

History

The institution known today as Harris-Stowe State University began as two separate teachers' colleges. One, the first public teachers college west of the Mississippi, was a normal school established by the St. Louis Public School System for white students. This school later became Harris Teachers College. The second, Stowe Teachers College, was founded in 1890 as a normal school for black students. The institutions merged in 1954 as part of the State Board of Education's efforts to integrate St. Louis' public schools. The new institution was called Harris Teachers College and was subject to the State Board's authority. The State Board eventually changed the name to Harris-Stowe College. A 1979 statutory change moved Harris-Stowe from being subject to the State Board of Education's authority to the relatively new Coordinating Board for Higher Education.

Harris-Stowe's degree offerings were limited to elementary and middle school educator preparation for the first hundred years of the school's history. In 1993, SB 153 authorized the college to expand its mission to include applied professional disciplines, including business administration (with options including accounting, management information systems, general business, and marketing) and secondary teacher education (with options including biology, English, math, and social studies). In 2015, SB 334 authorized Harris-Stowe to offer master's degrees.

In the fall of 1954, Lincoln University expanded its historical mission to serve a broader population of students with varied social, economic, educational, and cultural backgrounds. Three Rivers College was founded April 5, 1966, when citizens of the Southeast Missouri counties of Butler, Carter, Ripley, and Wayne voted into existence the College District. The college opened in storefront facilities in downtown Poplar Bluff, Missouri, with 138 students in the summer of 1967. Today, Three Rivers enrolls thousands of students at locations throughout Southeast Missouri, including an 80-acre campus in Poplar Bluff; full-service locations in Cape Girardeau, Dexter, Kennett, and Sikeston; as well as other locations, including Doniphan, Piedmont, and Van Buren.

Three Rivers College inspires, prepares, and empowers students to succeed through open access to high-quality learning opportunities that meet the community's needs. It offers certificates and associate degrees for students interested in college transfer or career-technical training, as well as transitional classes and continuing education courses.
